Plans to Close 24 Saloons a Day Until Few Liquor Sellers Are Left—Wants Use of Navy—Redistillation and Rum Running His Major Concerns.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, April 4.—One cafe or saloon will be closed every hour until New York is dry. Prohibition Director Palmer Canfield declared today, his third day on the job of making the wettest city in the United States dry.

Twenty-four cases have been worked up in the last 24 hours and that pace will be kept up continuously until there are not 24 liquor sellers left, Canfield said.

The two problems the director sees are eliminating redistillation and stopping the importation of liquor by the rum-runners that continually ply off the New York and New Jersey coasts.

The first problem is by far the greater, he said, because analysis of seized liquor, although dressed up in its Sunday clothes of fancy "original" labels, shows it to be synthetic whiskey and gin. Canfield would like to see the navy used to stop liquor smuggling off the coast. That is one of the things he will talk to Prohibition Commissioner Haynes about when the chief comes here Friday.

He is attacking the redistillation problem by eliminating violators who bootleg under a legal permit. His force is preparing papers for revocation proceedings against 100 of the 800 licensed dealers in alcohol in New York. More will follow, he says. Canfield started off his first day on the job here by moving to close several of the brightest spots on Broadway where liquor is being sold. The same day his agents seized $650,000 worth of whiskey in a "bootleggers' warehouse."

More cabarets will be attacked by injunction proceedings this week, Canfield said.

"It's easy enough to get evidence against them," said Canfield, "but the hard problem is to get the right names of the owners who disguise ownership by violating the state law requiring registration of proprietorship with the county clerk."

Canfield said he did not know if any steps had been taken toward getting the approval of the secretary of state and the secretary of the navy for the use of naval craft in helping enforce prohibition.

FISH AND GAME ASS'N MEETING

Officers and New Board of Governors Elected—Inspector De Silva Speaks and Conservation Films Are Shown.

The annual meeting of the Ulster County Fish and Game Association was held in the parlors of St. James' M. E. Church Tuesday evening and was largely attended.

Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: Elva H. Bogart, president; George Schick, vice president; Carlton S. Preston, secretary and treasurer.

A new board of governors was elected as follows: William Cruickshank, Big Indian; David Hillson, Phoenicia; John Lang, Saugerties; Dr. B. A. Reynolds, New Paltz; J. W. Veeder, Highland; Charles DeGraff, Eddyville; John De Vise, Ellenville.

After the election of officers and governors, the association members discussed business matters relating to stocking the streams with fish and the forests with game, and reforesting the county. At the conclusion of the business session the members were entertained by Chief Game Inspector Joseph De Silva, of this district, who spoke of the problems of the game protectors of the state.

Mr. DeSilva's talk was followed by a moving picture furnished by the state conservation commission showing how the state fights forest fires and other pictures regarding the would-be sportsman and the true sportsman. In the first class being those who tear down farmers' fences and otherwise destroy his property, and in the latter class those who work for the interests of the farmer. Although very instructive, the pictures could not compare in interest with motion pictures sent out by the conservation commission in previous years.

There are more than seventy-five streams in Ulster county and the association will endeavor to stock all of them with trout, bass or pike perch. During the past year the association put out seventy-five snow shoe rabbits. Next year the association will look into the matter of supplying Hungarian partridges.

About two thousand pheasant eggs will be distributed by the association between the latter part of April and the first of June, and those desiring to procure such eggs should apply to Secretary Carlton S. Preston, Pearl street, Kingston. The association also will liberate from one hundred to two hundred birds. All members present were most enthusiastic regarding the work which the association has accomplished and the plans which will be carried out during the ensuing year.

In view of this fact, the notice read, operation doubtless will cease. Employees failed to quit and trains were run as usual. The road employs about seventy-five men.

"We'll stick," said one employee here, "if our landlords will allow us a little leeway. The corporation will have to pay us in the long run and 100 per cent on the dollar. They will have to raise the cash some way."

The notice was a "showdown" by the company, which several weeks ago started abandonment moves, saying the road would be junked. The public service commission will hear the abandonment plea next Tuesday.

British Deny America ARMED AT IN OIL LAWS

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, April 4.—British officials today denied that "secret" legislation had been enacted in India to prevent Americans from obtaining concessions for exploitation of oil lands.

Reports from Washington indicated that the American government was resentful over the Indian oil legislation, British officials defended the measure which, it was stated, was publicly enacted in 1921. Under this legislation all crown oil lands in India are reserved exclusively for British companies. It was pointed out that this legislation was not directed against Americans any more than nationals of any other country.

British officials said they believed the American consulate at Bombay should have sent news of the measure to Washington.

A WILBUR "WILD MAN" ARRESTED

James Leach of DeWitt Street Found Running Wild Through Streets Chased as He First Entered the World—After Effects of Hooch, Said Dr. Snyder.

"Hurry up and send some policemen here," implored a voice over the telephone to the man on the desk at police headquarters shortly after midnight this morning, "there is a wild man running loose through the streets."

Sergeant Hanley and Officer Burger hurried to the scene in a police car and found James Leach, about 55 years old, running wild through the streets, clad as he first entered the world. With the assistance of some men neighbors Leach was captured and taken to his home on DeWitt street where it required the services of several men to hold him while Sergeant Hanley put a pair of pants on him before taking him to police headquarters.

Leach, who lives alone, had a bad attack of something during the night which caused him to strip the clothes from his body and then gather up his household belongings and piling them in the middle of one of the rooms in his house he proceeded to wreck the furniture with an axe. He also knocked out most of the windows of the house.

When the police entered the home they found the scattered and wrecked furniture strewn the floors.

At police headquarters Police Surgeon Snyder was called and examined Leach and pronounced the trouble to be due to the after-effects of hooch. Leach was bundled into the detention room and some blankets placed on the floor for him to spend the remainder of the night on. He was evidently troubled with unpleasant dreams for he made considerable noise during the night, but what he said was unintelligible.

Chief of Police J. Allan Wood stated this morning that it was not known just what disposition would be made of Leach when he "came to."

FORD FIRE TRUCK FOR EXCELSIORS

Fire Commissioners Place Order for Fully Equipped Truck With Millard & Son—To be Installed in Excelsior Hose Company House on Hurley Avenue.

The board of fire commissioners has placed an order for a one ton Ford fire truck, fully equipped, with Millard & Son, to be delivered some time in May. The truck will be painted the regulation fire department red and will be installed in the Excelsior Hose Company's house on Hurley avenue.

The members of Excelsior Hose Company will have full charge of the truck and will provide drivers for the machine. With the fire truck at Willwyck engine house, this will be the second piece of motor apparatus above the West Shore Railroad.

The fire board in placing the order felt that it was badly needed for fire protection in the up-town district. All of the expensive equipment of the department is located at the Central Fire Station below the West Shore crossing. In case the crossings were blocked by the railroad trains it would mean a delay in getting the apparatus to a fire up-town.

With the addition of the new fire truck to the up-town equipment the fire department will be afforded better facilities in fighting fires in that section of the city.

Three out of four of the present membership have been received by him; the school has more than doubled and the gifts of the people for benevolences have increased many fold.

Dr. Chase, although past 74 years of age, was unanimously and enthusiastically asked to return for another year.

The Age of Charms.

Too many people have more faith in "lucky" pieces than in their own ability.

A man needn't be crusty to be pious.

The national waist line is getting larger here and there. Some time it's here and sometimes it's there. The latter place is where it is now.

Startling Discovery.

It was the final examination and a budding philosopher concluded his essay on Mother Earth with this startling statement:

The earth revolves on its own axis 365 times in twenty-four hours. This rapid motion through space caused its sides to perspire and this is called dew.

The old horse is always glad to turn home but the young folks aren't.

Chronically.

In this old world there are few men who want to sell a gland; But day by day, in every weigh, The butcher sells his hand.

Heat Expansion.

The bureau of mines says that when heating hot air furnaces to a very high temperature the iron will not melt but if repeatedly heated to redness, the iron will "grow"—get larger—and may break some other part of the furnace that has no "grown."

Overcrowded.

Billy's nose was out of joint, all on account of the arrival of little sister. He took his overcoat and hat to the nurse and asked her to put them on him, so he was going away. She asked him if he hadn't better wait and see his father. He replied: "I'm going to my father; Uncle Frank is going to be my father now. This house is getting too crowded."

That "V"-Shaped Vest.

The V-shaped opening of a waistcoat is really a piece of vanity, giving the wearer a chance to show what sort of shirt he wears. It originated in the days when linen was first worn, and the man who could sport a linen shirt was considered something of a "well." He had the opening cut in his waistcoat so that all could see his elegance.

COLONIALS TO OPEN APRIL 15

Expert Fair Grounds Diamond to be in Shape for Opening With Red Hook—Astors of Rhinebeck and All Stars of Paterson Coming—Who Umpire Are.

Manager Lou Brown of the Kingston Colonials stated today that he had been assured that the grounds would be ready for the opening game of the season here with Red Hook on Sunday, April 15. Owing to the fact that the opening date had not been fully decided Manager Brown had not started the work of booking attractions but starts this week to get in touch with fast teams to play here.

It is expected that among the teams to show here shortly will be Buckley's Astors of Rhinebeck and Dick Cogan's All Stars of Paterson, N. J.

Peter Jordan will again handle the indicator for the Colonial games and will be assisted by Arthur Vincent as the other umpire. Vincent is said to have had considerable experience in umpiring ball games and it is expected that he will make good. This will be Jordan's third season as umpire with the Colonials. It is expected that the new uniforms for the Colonials will be received in time for the opening of the season.

SCHATZ MAY YET PUT

BALL TEAM IN FIELD

J. William Schatz has returned to Poughkeepsie from his southern trip and according to the Bridge City sporting scribes he is about to reconsider his decision not to put a ball team on the field in Poughkeepsie this season. If J. William comes back it is an assured fact, "Freddie" Weimore would come back also and according to Poughkeepsie fans that would mean that the Colonials of this city would be in for a trimming from one of the three teams.

The Bridge City Red Sox are planning to open the season with Red Hook at Red Hook on Sunday, April 22.

GLOVERSVILLE LOSES FIRST GAME IN TOURNAMENT.

SPRING WEATHER RESULTS IN RUSH FOR LICENSES

Up to April 1, $110,000 had been received by the motor vehicle department at the Ulster county clerk's office for 1923 automobile and motorcycle license plates. There was a big rush today for plates as the weather was fine so that motor vehicle owners in the towns who now can use their cars can come to the city. County Clerk Save estimates that the total amount he will take in for 1923 license plates will reach approximately $150,000 which will be between $35,000 and $40,000 more than for the 1922 license plates.

Picturesque India.

Thursday evening in the chapel of the Rondout Presbyterian Church, Mrs. Ellis's study class will present a stereoscopic lecture, "Picturesque India." India is a strange elusive, romantic land and Indians, the most Oriental of all Eastern peoples, yet their ancestry and ours go back to a common Aryan stock. We vision in these people a part of our common humanity co-operating with us for a better world. To this co-partnership India brings her heritage of nature, architecture, art, music and story, the power of contemplation and philosophic temperament and a capacity for renunciation and detachment. Beautiful colored views will depict the charm of the scenery, the wonderful temples, the customs of the people and some of their heathen rites which handicap their progress. William C. Kingman will introduce the lecture, which is free to everyone.

POINTS IN GOOD DRESSING

Women Who Are Wise Recognize Importance of Careful Selection of Accessories.

Never have accessories been of greater importance than in the present season. The woman who is wise in fashion lore recognizes the full value of each detail of her costume. It is this knowledge that distinguishes a really smart woman from the one who merely wears good-looking clothes.

So much depends upon line and color. The contrast given by a trailing sash, the brilliancy added by a glittering cuff ornament, the grace of line achieved by a necklace or pendant of the right length, are subjects for thought and study, so that every woman may find exactly the type of ornament and the lines best adapted to her individual type.

With the picturesque and more formal style of dressing has come an awakened interest in ornaments for the hair. Extremely varied in type, these range from the simple band of silver ribbon closely bound about the head to a gorgeously jeweled affair, quite Russian in character, and glittering with brilliant and silver embroidery. Other headpieces reveal an artful use of vividly tinted flowers, two of which are arranged over the left ear.

Then there are shoe buckles of every size and shape, and designed with all the painstaking care that goes into the fashioning of real jewelry. Extraordinarily lovely are buckles for the colonial slippers. Made of brilliant, they are backed with a trim of metal lace or plaited metal ribbon or velvet in shades of sapphire blue, of coral color and of emerald green. Slippers themselves are lovely beyond the dreams of Cinderella, whether they take the form of opera slippers or silver brocade or varicolored metal brocade sandals with jeweled heels.

LACE IS USED WITH CREPE

Combination Promises to Be Popular for Spring and Summer, Fashion Writer Says.

The use of a lace along with a crepe material is something that will be popular not only for wear but for the summer season. There is a demand for lace just so long as the formal styles insist upon holding the center of the stage, and as long as lace is the fashionable thing it behooves those women who love to be in the center of the style to use it to the last limits of its possibilities. A dress is made of gray crepe along with widths of lace which are dyed to match the silk. The sleeves are made of wide widths of the lace draped on to make the flowing sort of arm draperies which are so much in the center of the present styles. Then, pieces of the lace are taken and inset into the bodice of the gown, so that certain portions of the crepe are left to show and still the lace is left to hold the center of the stage. There are panels or motifs, however you wish to describe them, and they are the adornments of the low and medieval bodices that is cut in one with the circular skirt that drops low at the sides and is left to show by reason of the folds of its crepliness how very graceful the modern adapted styles may be.

Smocks and Tunics.

Few things have had a more widespread influence upon the fashions of this decade than the oddly beautiful handwork of peasant folk of Europe and the primitive art of India. There is a compelling beauty about these curious designs and crude contrasts of color. Children's clothes especially lend themselves to the decorative hand work copied from the smocks and tunics of simple peasants, and there is a quaint charm about the city frocks and coats and uncommon smartness.

PRINTED FABRICS IN FAVOR

Craze for Attractive Materials Was of Slow Growth, Dating Back to the Resorts.

A successful exploiter of a fashion or a fabric of any sort is never rigidly in the use of his materials. The history of fashion has shown that in order to gain any sort of attention a great deal of the thing which one wishes to popularize must be shown. The widespread use of figured materials at the present time is due to the quantities of models in these figured fabrics which were brought out last year. There were street dresses with the entire blouse portion of figured fabrics; there were indoor dresses and outdoor dresses for summer wear made of materials patterned in the gayest of designs and the brightest of colors.

In tracing back the why and wherefore of the apparently remarkable vogue for the figured fabrics of the present day, one finds that the craze for these materials did not spring up suddenly. It was a thing of slow growth and really dates back to summer resorts and midwinter resorts, where women were seen in frocks of cretonne and chintz and silk in very bold floral patterns and fabric printed in Persian designs. Many of the patterns seen in fashions and silks are almost exactly like those that made their initial appearance on cotton fabrics.

NEW SPRING HATS

Tendency Is to Suit Headgear to the Wearer.

Ribbon, Lace, Feathers and Flowers the Chief Decoration Used on Spring Millinery.

Hats herald the season. They are the torch-bearers of the new styles. To them is assigned the honor of placing a whole new aspect upon the silhouette of fashion. And when, observes a fashion writer in the New York Times, after weeks and months of reiteration of one set of styles, the new hats begin to appear, they send a positive thrill of hope through the female system.

Many hats are different and astonishing in some respects, while in others they are showing many of the same lines that were characteristic of them during the past season. There is still every tendency to suit the hat to the type, and, therefore, there are many and numerous shapes and styles to be found so that every personality and every contour of face may be suited.

Ribbon is used, and still more ribbon. It is bound about the edges of the brims of these tiny hats, and then it is used in bows and rosettes and cocardes and in loose, waving ends. The fact is that a small hat is more likely to have trimmings of ribbon than not, and one of the advantages of this expression is that it is good for the sports as well as for the dress hat, and the one that is worn strictly for the street.

From Paris the very latest news is that the ribbon hat rosettes applied to the sides of small hats and large ones must have in their centers some arrangement of small and brightly colored flower buds.

Lace and still more lace is to be seen on the newer hats. It is the trimming of the moment to be sure and nothing can be more feminine nor more surely becoming than is this vogue. Black lace is decidedly popular. In fact it is the only color that should be used because it is so thoroughly satisfactory that it should be left alone in its glory.

After the rage for a certain small hat, there is bound to come a reaction

and therefore we might just as well attune our thought to the approach of larger and broader-brimmed hats.

There is a wide-brimmed straw hat that seems to be taking to a ribbon band and a floppy ribbon bow that hangs away from one side. There is always a hat of this general character, though it is not always trimmed in the same manner, but this season it seems probable that the bow of ribbon will be the thing and that its color will harmonize rather than contrast with that of the hat itself.

United States Senator Henrik Shipstead, of Minnesota, in private life is a practicing dentist, with a large clientele. He is a graduate of the dental college of the Northwestern University and for several years practiced at Glenwood, Minnesota. Shortly after he moved to Minneapolis he was nominated for governor but was defeated. In the present senatorial campaign he was swept into office over Senator Frank H. Kelly. Senator Shipstead is shown here in his dental office in Minneapolis.

Mills of the Gods.

The quotation is: "Though the mills of God grind slowly, yet they grind exceedingly small; though with patience He stands waiting, with exactness grinds He all." They were written by Frederick von Logau, who lived from 1604 to 1665. He was born at Brockton in Silesia and was one of the most highly esteemed epigrammatists and satirists of his day. History speaks of him as "one of the few men who preserved his national integrity during the Thirty Years' war." He was most scathing in his criticism of the German court and court customs, and severely arraigned Germans for their persistent aping of French manners and customs. This notable epigram was translated from the German by William Cullen Bryant.

Success at Last.

When I was a youngster I always envied my playmates because they could whistle through their fingers. Although I tried and tried to master the art, I didn't succeed until one day when I was fourteen years of age. One Sunday I stayed for church after Sabbath school, and as time began to drag I put my fingers in my mouth, as I had a habit of doing, and blew. Instead of the gentle swirl of my breath there was a shrill blast that echoed and re-echoed from ceiling to floor. No one was more startled than I. And although I almost burned up with embarrassment I had at least succeeded in placing myself on equal Height of Napoleon.

In the personal recollections of Constant Bonaparte's valet for five years, are found facts relative to Napoleon's height. Constant took the measure of Napoleon for his hats and clothing. He says the height of his august master was five feet three inches and two lines, equal to a foot and one inch and five lines, English measure. Lady Pittney Macdonald, who met the imperial exile frequently at St. Helena, says he looked to be about five feet six inches tall. Doctor Henry, surgeon of the English regiment long stationed at St. Helena, states that he appeared to be a man about five feet seven inches in height. Constant also took Napoleon's head measurement and found it to be 22 inches in circumference.

Wireless Fence.

On opposite corners in a little town live two men. Each has a lawn, which, since spring, has been used as highway and thoroughfare by all who wanted to save five feet in rounding those corners.

One man's sign reads: "Keep off" and was reinforced by a wire fence. The other's was longer and read: "Suggestion—if you don't walk across here, it may be a lawn some day." This one had no wire fence. Such is the perversity of human nature that many people still get their exercise in jumping the wire fence on the first man's place. The other is undisturbed.—Collier's Weekly.

St. Mungo's Bell.

St. Mungo, called the well-beloved on account of his good works, a perhaps one of the best known saints of the Scotland. He is said to have flourished in the sixth century and to have been the founder of the city of Glasgow. He is recorded to have planted a religious establishment by the banks of the Clyde. He held his daily service in a nearby clearing in the forest, summoning his savage neighbors to worship by a great bell hung from the branch of a mighty tree. From St. Mungo's early settlement sprang up Scotland's largest city, and St. Mungo's bell still figures in the arms of Glasgow.

PRESIDENT IS IN GEORGIA

Telegraph to The Freeman.
Augusta, Ga., April 4.—Rain today caused President Harding to cancel a scheduled motor trip to Lake Lanoka, S. C., and to spend the day at the golf links in Augusta, where he is winding up the longest vacation he has had since entering the White House two years ago.
The president and most of his party were to have witnessed a specially arranged polo match at Aiken this afternoon, but rain made the field so muddy that it was impossible for the ponies to get around.
The Aiken jaunt was put off until tomorrow and the president went out on the links here this morning with Speaker Gillett of the house and Senator Frelinghuysen of New Jersey. Senator Hale of Maine
and F. B. McLean of Washington, with only a few days remaining before he returns to Washington and luncheon to the pile of work that has accumulated for him there, Mr.
Harding is vacationing at full speed in golf as the most prominent feature of his program.
Invitations have poured in on Mr.
Harding from all parts of the south
to visit resorts on his trip, but they have been turned down without exception. The president is intent upon crowding in the few days remaining of his vacation all the recreation possible. For this reason he has declined all engagements of public nature and has even bought shy of individual conferences with those who came south to see him.

Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, and a candidate for the presidential nomination at the last Republican convention, has been desirous of discussion with Mr. Harding some aspects of the international court proposal before congress in its closing days. Thus far, however, Dr. Butler has been unable to confer with Mr.
Harding although erroneous stories
were sent out of Augusta to the effect that such a conference was held. Butler's only engagement with the president has been a short talk on the golf links.

DEVER WINS CHICAGO ELECTION

Democrat's Plurality Nearly a Record Due To Split In Republican Ranks.
By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Chicago, April 4.—An efficient and a decent administration was promised the people of Chicago today by William E. Dever, Democrat, elected mayor of Chicago yesterday
by a plurality of 102,743.
The mayor's total vote was 387,
961. His chief opponent, Arthur C.
Luether, Republican, received 284, 213.
The Socialist candidate, William
A. Canner, ran below expectations.
He received only 40,841.
Dever's victory was one of the greatest recorded in Chicago man-icipal elections. It swept the most of the Democratic ticket into office.
Of the fifty aldermen who will sit in the council under the new administration, thirty-eight will be Democrats.
Mayor-Elect Dever will succeed
William Hale Thompson, Republican, who attracted national attention while in office. Thompson did not take an active part in the campaign
although a large part of his big following openly worked for Dever.
Prior to the nomination, the Republican party had been split into factions.

INDICT MINISTER AS OIL SWINDLER

The Rev. A. C. Parker Pleads Not Guilty to Misleading Mails and Re-

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, April 4.—The Rev. A.
C. Parker, president and general manager of the Great State Petroleum Company of Dallas, Texas, who with two other members of the firm pleaded not guilty yesterday to indictments charging use of the mails to defraud, is on his way to Texas today to direct the affairs of his company.
The firm and ten individuals were named in indictments returned Monday by a federal grand jury. Parker, Wilmer F. Sims and Harry A. Hurt, directors of the company, pleaded not guilty and were also released on

Assistant United States Attorney

notified the seven other defendants to appear in court Monday for arraignment. They are:

offices here for a time and is alleged to have sold worthless stock

COUNTERFEITERS TAKE MILLIONS

Most Gigantic Plot in History of Country Is Broken Up.

MEN "HIGHER UP" ARE CAUGHT

Business Organized Along Modern Lines, With Many "Salesmen"— Widespread Circulation Due Partly
to Its Use to Buy Liquor and Drugs
From Bootleggers and Smugglers—Trail of Spurious Bills Leads as Far Away as Egypt.

The most gigantic counterfeiting plot in the history of the country has been broken up by the arrest in New York city and other large centers of nearly 100 counterfeiting chiefs, as well as the arrest of hundreds of agents of the fake money ring. Between $1,000,000 and $10,000,000 in spurious money was dumped into the trading marts of a score of nations
before the arrests, however. Bogus money has been reported from as far away as Egypt, according to reports to Joseph A. Palma, chief of the United States secret service squad,
which has been investigating the situation for the last eight months.

The widespread circulation of the counterfeit was due partly to its use by counterfeiters to buy liquor and drugs
from bootleggers and smugglers of narcotics, and partly to its passage by a band of men and women who toured the country in automobiles, getting rid of considerable sums of the bogus money in every city they visited.

Ringleaders Are Caught.
The secret service operatives are confident that the ringleaders are now in custody, and that nearly 1,000 members of the gang who actually passed the money, or acted as agents and lookouts, will soon be caught. More than 600 arrests already have been made. The ring was developed along business lines, with retailers and wholesalers, and then the manufacturers. Each section worked separately, and the makers of the bogus money
never met the retailers, all transactions being made by liaison officers.

Mr. Palma said that he did not believe the counterfeiting gang had any direct connection with either the bootleggers or the drug smugglers, but thought that the latter were victimized by the counterfeiters. Both the bootleggers and drug smugglers, he explained, are lawbreakers, and the counterfeiters found it easy and considered it safe to buy liquor and drugs with the "phony" money, relying upon the fact that the victims were also violators of the law to prevent them from making complaint. New-arrived immigrants were also easy victims for the passers of the counterfeit money.

The places in New York city raided
by the operatives contained immense loot, according to Mr. Palma. They were stocked with bundles containing hundreds of thousands of dollars of spurious money, thousands of dollars worth of postage stamps, fake whisky
labels, revenue stamps, bogus coins,
and memoranda. Engraving boards, presses, moulds and dies were also taken.

The main office of the counterfeiters
was found to be in an Italian restaurant in New York's famous Greenwich village. Nine branch offices were discovered in Brooklyn, New Jersey,
Long Island, and other near-by places.
These places were guarded by an elaborate system of guards and lookouts,
and it was only after months of patient work that the government agents were able to penetrate the lines and arrest the men said to be "higher up."

Sold in Wholesale Lots.
Secret service agents, who posed as criminals during the long investigation of the plot, found that the largest distributors sold the counterfeit notes for 17 cents on the dollar in "wholesale"
lots, while the smaller distributors disposed of them at 50 cents on the dollar
in "retail quantities." The agents said that when they bought the spurious money for 17 cents on the dollar they knew they were hot on the trail.

Bogus gold coins together with the equipment for making them, were also seized by the federal agents. The counterfeiters are believed to have turned to the manufacture of spurious gold coins after the bootleggers, already "tapped" by faked paper money, began
demanding specie for their illicit wares.

Two Children Arrested.
The investigation began with the arrest in Detroit, Mich., of two children,
Zigmund, fourteen years old, and Freda Rossi, eight, who passed a spurious
note. Their father and mother, now serving sentences, were placed under arrest, and through them the first faint
clues leading to the nation-wide plot were discovered.

Mr. Palma, then working in Detroit,
was told to select his own secret service operatives and run down the counterfeiters, regardless of the amount of time or money needed. Then began the long chase after the lawbreakers.
Many times the agents could have arrested as many as ten of the passers of the bogus money, but to have done so would have warned those higher up and aided them to escape.

Led to Many Cities.
The trail of the counterfeiters led to many cities, but always the "shovers of the queer" kept ahead of the agents, so far as the chief counterfeiters were concerned. The net drew tighter and tighter, however, until at last the word was given to "go over the top," and within a few hours the ringleaders were arrested, the manufacturing plants of the counterfeiters raided, and the greatest plot of its kind in the country was definitely smashed, according to the federal authorities.

During the last few months there have been scores of counterfeiters arrested in many European cities, and in almost every case their trail led directly back to the American organization. Bermuda has been flooded recently with bogus money, due, it is said, to the big whisky trade centered

there.

Foreign Coinage "Faked."
Because of the international ramifications of the scheme, police action
may be taken in foreign countries, especially Italy and Austria. Among the effects of the prisoners were found many counterfeit lire and Austrian kronen, possibly designed for shipment abroad, according to the government agents. The Canadian authorities have also been informed of the discovery of counterfeit Quebec liquor commission stamps.

Mr. Palma has issued a warning that any person caught passing any of the counterfeit money will be arrested and held as an accessory. Most of the spurious bills are the Federal Reserve Bank $2 notes, the $5 "Indian head" silver certificates, $10 national bank notes
of the National bank of Orange Park, Fla., and $20 national bank notes of the National City bank of Grand Rapids, Mich.

DOG FINDS TREASURE CHEST

Searches Near Old Alabama Homestead Fruitless Forty Years.
A dog, clanking frantically in a tower near an old homestead, uncovered a "treasure chest," filled with gold and silver coin, plate of the Saunders family at Courtland, Ala.

According to an old family legend,
an aged negro hid a chest of money and silver in the Civil war and died of apoplexy before he could get back to his master. Searches at intervals for forty years brought no trace of the fortune, and the family dismissed it as an "old man's tale."

Gold coins, none of later date than 1869, and some dating back to 1799, were in the treasure chest. The coins are valued at about $200.

SMOKED 92 YEARS—SICK

Negro, 104, at Last Goes to Hospital
for His "Misery."

Over one hundred years old, "Doc" Young, negro, had the "misery," he told Ambulance Driver Gus Diddeth
as he was being taken to Parkland hospital at Dallas, Tex. "Doc" said
he is one hundred and four years old,
has been "courthouse" married nine times and is the father of about thirty children. "Doc" said he has smoked for ninety-two years.

He does not use a cane to walk with nor does he wear glasses. He can see fine print, but can't read it, he declared.

"I expects to last eight or ten years
more," Young said. "I sho' is sick
now, though."

Swallowed Radium Needle.

A patient in a Philadelphia hospital
swallowed a radium-coated needle with which his doctor was treating his throat. Realizing the danger to the patient if the needle found permanent lodgment, the doctor called a surgeon who immediately performed an operation and recovered the needle. It is said the needle was coated with $2,000 worth of radium.

Injured in Peculiar Manner.

During a snowstorm at Glace Bay,
Quebec, a young woman lost an eye
in a peculiar manner. She was walking along the street with her head down to protect her face from the wind. She failed to heed a sleigh approaching from the opposite direction and walked right into it, one shaft piercing an eye and knocking her down.

Landru's Range Brings Fortune.

The kitchen range from the house of Landru, the French "bluebeard" executed for the murder of a dozen women, was sold at auction recently for 4,000 francs ($800). Landru is supposed to have burned the bodies of his victims in the range, originally worth a hundred francs.

How Birds Dive After Prey.

Many people think that birds dive directly on to the fish they wish to capture but if they did so they would probably be killed. Nearly all diving birds enter the water some distance from their prey, and capture them on the upward glide and not as they go down.

RESERVED SEATS ARE ALL SOLD

For Kingston-Celtic Game On Friday Night—Kush Seats On Sale
Friday Night—Reserved Tickets
Must Be Called For By Thursday Night.

When the curtain falls on basketball for the 1922-23 season at the local armory court Friday evening of this week the greatest crowd of the season will tax the big drill shed. This morning M. Husta notified a Freeman reporter that all the reserved seat tickets for the game were sold. These tickets must be called for not later than Thursday night. The reserved seats include the balcony, the usual reserves that surround the net and the bleachers
on the uptown side of the armory.
The remaining seats, those on the downtown side will be rush and will be placed on sale the evening of the game. Doors open at 7 o'clock and the small door on the Hoffman street side of the armory will be opened to allow those who have obtained tickets in advance to enter.

The patrons who secured tickets already for the big event include a large number from neighboring cities and towns. That this same is putting Kingston on the map in sport circles is proven not only by the large sale of tickets but by the attention called to sport fans
throughout the columns of newspapers
throughout the state.

When the Celtics take the floor
against the local representatives Friday night they will be in the pink of condition, for this game means something to the wearers of the Shamrock. There is a great demand always for the world's champion basketball squad and Manager Furey and his team receive good salaries. When the Kingston team hits the court it is not necessary to say that it will do its best to win as
as to complete a very successful season and get the honor of being the World's Champions. By winning this battle Manager Morgenweck and his quintet will deservedly gain prestige and possibly be in the demand that the Shamrock wearers
boasted of in past seasons.

The large number of tickets ordered may now be called for and these tickets along with some possible new places that M. Husta said might be reserved, is expected to supply those who desire to attend.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

THE SURPRISED TWIGS

"It is a curious thing," said the little weed in the flowerpot, "but my family are not usually so popular, and yet I was welcomed so delightedly."

"Picked by a Little Girl," said the little weed.

Now the weed was in the same flowerpot with the hyacinth. It was very small and very delicate in appearance, and it could really only be noticed when one looked carefully at what was growing in the flowerpot.

"It is true," the hyacinth continued, "that weeds in gardens are not very popular. But in gardens they are strong and they are stubborn."

"Oh, yes, they go about where they are not wanted and they don't care in the least. They are dug up and thrown out of the way and they crowd about again."

"Oh, I beg your pardon, weed," said the hyacinth suddenly. "I forgot that it was about your family I was speaking."

"Never mind," said the weed. "I know that what you have said is true, and we aren't sensitive."

"But what surprised me was that I was welcomed so gladly and so delightedly in this flowerpot."

"Ah, yes," said the hyacinth, "and I am going on to explain about that. It takes me a long time to finish all I mean to say."

"Take your time, take your time," said the weed, "for I am in no hurry. I don't mind if you take all the time you want."

"Well," said the hyacinth, "it seems so like a garden—so like out-of-doors, so like really growing things to see a little weed in a flowerpot indoors."

"It is true that out-of-doors you are not so popular. But indoors you remind them—not of the trouble your family makes out-of-doors—but of the out-of-doors without the trouble."

"And so you were welcomed. But I notice that those twigs on the sideboard have something to say."

"Yes," agreed the twigs, "we have. You see we are in this big vase and we are near a window and the sun and light and air all reach us."

"Then too we are not far from a radiator and the warmth helps us. There is not too much warmth but there is plenty—and this warmth is making us grow."

"And we are very surprised. You see we were picked by a little girl who thought we were going to be pussy willows. Poor little dear, she did not know!"

"She was a city child and she went into the country. She had seen pussy willows when they were really big and she thought that our buds would surely become pussy willows."

"She wanted to give them to the lady who lives in this house, for she knew the lady loved wild flowers and springtime things."

"Well, she did and she told the lady that she had picked some pussy willows for her."

"The lady knew we were not pussy willows, but she put us in a vase as she thought possibly our buds would open."

"We didn't think they would at first, but they are opening—we almost speak as though our buds did not belong to us."

"And now we're coming out as nice little green sprouts and we're going to be little green leaves."

"Ah, yes, we're going to have a regular little springtime right here indoors."

"The warmth from the radiator is helping us and wouldn't Mr. Sun be amused to think that anything so modern was helping us to make a kind of an indoor springtime."

"Well, we're surprised at it all ourselves. Yes, we're just as surprised as we can be, for we never thought we could do all this indoors."

"But the lady is delighted. She loves all the nice, natural out-of-door things her indoor plants are doing."

"She is indeed," said the hyacinth. "How thoroughly happy she is about us all," the twigs continued sadly.

"Even happy about me," said the little weed, but the most surprised of all were the twigs which really had an indoor spring opening!

We're Coming Out!

"She is indeed," said the hyacinth.

"How thoroughly happy she is about us all," the twigs continued sadly.

"Even happy about me," said the little weed, but the most surprised of all were the twigs which really had an indoor spring opening!

VARIOUS CHEESE DISHES

Cheese is one our best animal foods, cheap because it is almost entirely without waste and pound for pound it is richer in protein and fat than meat and is a valuable meat substitute. Cheese is a hearty food and when well masticated is usually well and easily digested. The habit of eating cheese at the end of a meal with a rich pastry is not desirable from a health standpoint, and its undesired reputation for indigestibility may be due to this custom, the rich pastry and preceding hearty meal being more at fault than the cheese.

Cottage cheese made from the curd of milk contains most of the protein of the whole milk but the food value is decreased because the butter fat has been removed; however, it is a valuable food and an excellent substitute for meat. With the addition of cream or butter it is a well-balanced food.

Cheese Loaf.—Take one cupful of cooked rice, one cupful of boiled or mashed potatoes, one-half cupful of canned tomatoes, one tablespoonful of minced onion, one-third of a cupful of grated cheese, two teaspoonfuls of salt and a few dashes of cayenne. Combine the ingredients and shape the mixture into a loaf. Bake in a moderate oven for thirty minutes.

Cottage Cheese Soup.—Melt one-fourth of a cupful of butter, add two tablespoonfuls of cornstarch, stir and cook until the mixture is smooth, add one quart of milk, heat to the boiling point and cook four minutes; season with paprika, parsley and one teaspoonful of salt, stirring constantly, then add two cupfuls of cottage cheese and serve at once.

Cheese and Dandelion Roll.—Take one quart of cooked greens, either dandelion or spinach or other greens, add one cupful of grated cheese, two tablespoonfuls of catsup, one tablespoonful of horseradish, one cupful of cooked rice or hominy grits, a tablespoonful of butter, a dash of cayenne and salt to season. Form the mixture into a roll, place in a greased baking pan and bake twenty-five minutes. Serve on a hot platter garnished with sliced, hard-cooked eggs and serve with a highly seasoned tomato sauce.

Mania for Hiding Wills.

Eccentric testators have a habit of hiding their wills in order to give their executors as much trouble as possible, while it often happens that a will has been put in a "safe place," afterwards forgotten, or hidden in a secret compartment. During a sale of furniture, two porters stumbled when moving a heavy oak bureau of old pattern. This smashed in one of the panels at the back, which revealed some papers, though the bureau was supposed to have been emptied. Examination led to the discovery of a false back containing a number of private papers, among which was a missing will. In one famous case an eccentric hid his will in the leg of an old-fashioned four-poster bedstead, where it was not discovered until three years after his death.

Exide BATTERIES

Do you carry a crank?

For many motorists—for those who have learned the economy and comfort of having a worth-while battery in their car—the automobile crank has practically passed out of the language. Perhaps they carry one hidden deep down under the back seat, but they have not seen it in years.

Others know their cranks only too well, for with a battery that sometimes works and sometimes does not, they have frequent opportunities to train their wrist muscles.

The comfort of knowing your electric starter is going to work every time, the security of being sure that your lights will illuminate the road ahead the moment you switch them on—these are the joys of having a battery on which you can always depend.

The proof of experience

If you own an Exide, you know these joys. If not, and you make inquiry, you will find that in earning its reputation as the long-life battery Exide has given satisfaction to millions of automobile owners in all parts of the world.

Sturdily built, Exide has the rugged power to outlast any other battery. That is what makes it economy for you to own one. When your battery needs to be replaced, drive to the nearest Exide Service Station and get the right size Exide for your car.

Will there be enough ARCOLAS to go round this year?

THERE weren't enough in 1921—5,000 home-owners were disappointed.

This year, with our factories already over-taxed by orders for larger Ideal Boilers, we can make only the same number of ARCOLAS as in 1921. Yet three times as many homes are being built.

So we urge you earnestly to see your Heating Contractor this week, and find out what it will cost you to have ARCOLA installed, with a genuine American Radiator in each room.

The cost is surprisingly low; and in three average winters ARCOLA pays back a large share of the cost in the fuel it saves.

MANY STREETS NEED REPAIRS

That is Judging From the Number of Resolutions Introduced by the Aldermen and Referred to the Public Works Board Tuesday Evening.

Enough street repair work was laid out Tuesday evening to keep the board of public works busy all summer if the wishes of the aldermen are complied with by that board. The aldermen met in regular monthly session that evening with all members present.

The following resolutions were introduced and referred to the proper boards:

By Alderman Macholdt—That Andrew street be put in a passable condition as soon as possible; that O'Reilly, Hoffman and Stephan streets be repaired.

Alderman Ryan—That Hamilton and Purvis streets be repaired; that DeWitt street and O'Reilly street be repaired.

Alderman Mann—That board of public works should do something at once with the lower end of German street; that the board put some more lights on Abel street, between Hone street and the Rondout Creek Bridge.

Alderman Williams—That Second avenue and Murray streets be repaired; and that an arc light be placed at the foot of Waters's Lane on Hasbrouck avenue.

Alderman Joy—That incandescent lights on East Union street, known as the high road, be repaired and guards placed on them so that they can not be broken; that Murray street be repaired; that Chambers and East Pierpont streets be cleaned; that Newkirk avenue and St. Mary's street be repaired.

Alderman Cashman—That Abbey street be topdressed and rolled; that Gage street be repaired; and that Stephan street be topdressed and rolled.

Alderman Keating—That arc light be placed on Crane street between Delaware avenue and Walnut street; that Catherine street be topdressed and rolled; that East Union street be repaired; that an arc light be placed at Sycamore street and East Strand; and that streets in Fifth ward be cleaned of snow and ice.

Alderman Buchholz—That an incandescent light be placed at Prospect street and Van Deusen street; that catch basin be placed at corner of Van Buren and Belmont streets; that incandescent light be placed back on the corner of Van Deusen and Belmont streets as it is of no benefit where it is now placed.

Alderman Behrens—That catch basin be placed on the southeast corner of Oak and Henry streets.

Alderman Martin—That board of public works have a larger sewer main constructed on Main street from Johnston avenue toward Washington avenue; that the mayor, corporation counsel and city engineer take up with the state highway department the matter of placing a new bridge across the Esopus creek and that steps be taken to compel the town of Ulster to stand its share of the expense; that the mayor, corporation counsel and railroad committee take up with the trolley road the plan of having passengers alight and enter on the right hand side of the trolley cars.

The Kingston Fair Grounds sent in a communication stating they had been taxed $65.20 in error and asking that the mistake be corrected. The communication was referred to the assessor and corporation counsel.

The council also audited the bill of Joseph S. Pessner for two months rent for the central bus terminal. Mr. Pessner was present at the session and explained that he had complied with the requirements of the lease.

Other matters taken up will be found elsewhere.

Dr. Henry Behrens, Jr., the well known dentist, filed his resignation as alderman of the Eleventh ward with Mayor Walter P. Crane Tuesday evening and attended his last session of the common council that evening as alderman from that ward. The posters will be on exhibition up to a few days and then will be shown in the windows of downtown stores.

Women are like clocks. Some of them are fairly reliable with but little attention, while others need almost constant care, and it is not always the high-priced, jeweled ones that are most dependable. LIGHT-SIX SEDAN $1550

If you pay a thousand dollars for a car and have to buy a new one each year, it is at least twice as expensive as a fifteen hundred and fifty dollar car that looks like new at the end of three years.

We believe a Studebaker Sedan is good for five to ten years of useful, satisfactory life. We are not positive as to the real life because none has yet worn out.

If, when you trade in your car, you learn that you can get only three or four hundred dollars for it because there is no second-hand market for that make of car, then you must add this extra depreciation to arrive at the real cost of the car.

The trade-in price of Studebaker cars shows a very small depreciation, in many sections the smallest of all makes of motor cars. And there is always a ready market for used cars of Studebaker manufacture.

Motor car values find their proper levels in used car salesrooms. Visit one and compare Studebaker second-hand prices with others. The result will be illuminating. The built-in value proves itself each thousand miles of use.

ASSESSED FOR UNFINISHED HOUSE

Peter Herb of No. 28 Clifton avenue, sent in a communication to the common council at the session Tuesday evening stating that he had been assessed for an uncompleted house he was erecting on Clifton avenue. He wrote that last year he had been assessed $11.52 for the vacant lot, but this year he had to pay a tax much higher and asked the aldermen to take some action to compel the city to refund him $58.45. He said he had paid the excess tax under protest.

Alderman Cushman of that ward explained that he had had a talk with Mr. Herb about the matter and that Mr. Herb had started to erect the house last July, but that it would not be ready for occupancy before May of this year. He offered a resolution that the communication be referred to the corporation counsel and city assessor for action which was done.

A SIMPLE AFTERNOON FROCK

Elegant simplicity is emphasized in this pocketed frock of silk crepe with a Russianized note of embroidery.

HATS, BAGS, PARASOLS MATCH

India Shawl Used for Sports Frock. Affording Quaint and Interesting Outfits.

Quaint looking sports frocks are made of India shawls with hats, bags and parasols to match. The idea of the matching set, consisting of a hat, bag and parasol is one that has been exploited for several seasons by various French modistes, notably among them Elaine of the Rue de la Paix. But this season's vogue for everything printed, especially in Indian and Persian design, brings with it an excellent opportunity for working out entirely new variations of an old idea.

Suzi, a French milliner who has been quite successful in recent months, makes very attractive sets, consisting of hats and bags of flowers mounted on foundations of net. It is but logical that the interesting developments taking place in fabrics should have a strong influence on millinery. Just as we have the printed and embroidered fabrics in dress, so we have them in hats. There are the straw cloths, braided and embroidered, as well as organdie and other cotton materials painted and embroidered with wool and soutache braid.

In these as well as in all other millinery the tortoise shell tint is prominent. Most effective hats are made in these shades, braided and embroidered in darker tones of brown. Sometimes braiding is combined with embroidery. Interesting things are being done to the brims of large hats, such as turning them up sharply at different angles. Sometimes the hat is turned up directly in the back after a very old-fashioned method. Again the brim may be folded back to the crown on one side.

TIPS OF TRIMMINGS

Silver and black embroidery that is banded in gray fox and lined with silver-colored satin.

Large bows of silver ribbon trim some of the newest hats. They are mushroom-shaped and brighten-up tailored suits or dark wraps.

Very soft, light leather in vivid colors is used to trim sport dresses of crepe de chine. Sometimes it is employed to make the monogram and belt.

Cutwork self-trimming is being used on many of the heavy wool and silk gowns instead of embroidery. It is seen frequently on coats as well as on gowns.

The most unusual cuffs seen on any of the new frocks are of organdie with ruffles of gold lace. They turn back from the wrist to the elbow with a decided flare.

Very highly glazed ribbon is extensively used both in millinery and on costumes. Dancing frocks show rows and rows of it decorating the new long skirts.

An overblouse of gray crepe de chine achieves something original in the way of decoration by adding a fringe of green suede about the collar, cuffs and hem.

The embroidery seen on the new frocks for spring is done in fine thread in very small, fine designs. This is an important detail on many of the smartest creations.

A velvet gown, cut on very plain, classical lines, is trimmed with cascades of leaves of a darker shade than the material and is outlined with silver.

Black silk lace mounted on silver cloth gives the effect of an elaborate silver brocade in a very smart dinner gown designed for a matron. Metallic cloth is frequently velled with lace to produce a softer effect.

For Lady Nic.

New smoking jackets and suits for women, imported from England, show short coats and full trousers of velvets, brocade and satins, banded with fur and elaborately trimmed.

Thackeray and the Pantomime. It is recalled that William Makepeace Thackeray was a fervent admirer of pantomime, and he never missed viewing one if he could help it. He admitted, though, that "very few men could expect to see all the pantomimes of one season."

JACKIE COOGAN HERE TOMORROW

And Rest of Week in "Oliver Twist" a Film for Which the New York Sun (can't) Find Enough Nice Things to Say.

Jackie Coogan as "Oliver" in Charles Dickens's famous story "Oliver Twist" will be the attraction at Keeney's Theater Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week. Little need be said of the story and little need be said of Jackie Coogan, both are so well known. That this latest picture in which little Jackie takes the part of Oliver is a worth while film may be seen from the following editorial which appeared in the New York Morning Sun:

A Very Moving Picture.

This is not an advertisement, although it may advertise the moving picture of which it speaks. But that doesn't matter. What we would say is that Charles Dickens's story, "Oliver Twist," has been filmed with Jackie Coogan as Oliver and it is now on exhibition here at the Strand.

You may not care for moving pictures. Some few people don't. That is because, perhaps, they have been unfortunate enough to go to the movies only when some mushy nothing called a great story is on the bill. We can understand why a person might get a distaste for moving pictures if that fate had befallen him. But the present case is different.

Oliver Twist, with Jackie Coogan, is absolutely unique in its merit. In the first place there is nothing mushy about this famous story. It is as solid as anything in this world could be. Not a glimmer of mirth shines through a single page of the great novelist's moving tale of the poorhouse brat ushered into a world that didn't want him and that proceeded to beat and abuse him as soon as it could. Selfish and cruel men and women, coarse and brutish beasts of the underworld, cunning scoundrels with no hearts, pompous prigs, pilfing upstarts, horror-stricken decent people, the slums at their worst, vice and villainy—all, and more, are pictured to life that is uncanny. You may go to see the wonder-boy, Jackie Coogan, but you get lost in the fascinations of the picture itself.

It is worth seeing. First, because it is a moving tale, and secondly, because it is good art. And the story lends itself to the camera as do few tales. Everybody who has ever read anything worth mentioning is of course familiar with Oliver Twist. To such we say: Go to see this picture and then perhaps you can get an idea of the perfection to which the movies will perhaps eventually come. We do not say this to help the Strand management but for the benefit of The Sun readers. It is a pleasure to pass the news of a good and thoroughly praiseworthy thing along—there are so many of the other kind that have served to disappoint us. It's a pleasure to tell a friend about a good book you have found or a wonderful play you have seen. In this case it happens to be a movie. Don't miss it.

What to Eat and Why

A Natural Supply of Vitamin.

The word "Vitamin" is new, but the thing itself is as old as the human race. It is the energizing, vitalizing, growth-producing element in the right food. Its absence is a serious fault of the wrong food. When the food is right, there is no need to go to the drug store for Vitamin.

Grape-Nuts, the famous ready-to-eat cereal, supplies the natural Vitamin from the wheat, and a further supply is included in the cream or milk with which Grape-Nuts is eaten.

Grape-Nuts is delightfully crisp and appetizing, with a flavor which happily suggests the wholesome, health-building goodness which the food contains. Phosphorous and iron, as well as Vitamin, with a bran content to stimulate intestinal action, are supplied by Grape-Nuts. Many of its modern, "refined" foods lack these vitally necessary elements.

Grape-Nuts digests easily and is assimilated quickly, and is splendidly nourishing and energizing. You'll find better health and fitness, in the natural way, with Grape-Nuts as a regular part of your diet.

There's genuine economy in Grape-Nuts—many servings of this exceptionally nourishing food to the package. At your grocer's—ready to serve. Grape-Nuts—the Body Builder. "There's a Reason." Made by Postum Cereal Co., Inc., Battle Creek, Mich.

24 HURT IN N. Y. ELEVATED CRASH

Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, April 4.—Twenty-four persons were hurt, four of them so badly they had to be taken to the hospital, in a crash upon the Thirty-fourth street extension of the Third Avenue Elevated line today. The train ran into the bumpers at the end of the line and two cars were badly damaged. The accident was attributed to slippery rails and fog. There were about 50 passengers on the train. All were thrown from their seats as the train slid over the slippery rails and crashed into the heavy steel bumpers. Panic followed and many were knocked down and trampled in the stampede for the doorways. Two of the cars had almost telescoped, tearing exits at the forward doors. Two women, who were believed to have fainted from fright, fell and were badly bruised by being trampled. Two ambulances were summoned from Bellevue Hospital. Andrew Salomon, who was riding in a forward car, was injured internally and was taken to Bellevue in a serious condition.

Blind Spots.

The world has its "blind spots" for thunder and lightning, says a bulletin of the National Geographic society. The brilliant flash of lightning and crackle and rumble of thunder are as impossible of conception as any Eskimos as would "solid" war by equatorial savages.

In general the frequency of thunderstorms decreases as one goes north, until within the Arctic and Antarctic circles they seldom occur.

When Katmai volcano, on the Alaskan peninsula, erupted in 1912, some of the adult natives of the vicinity were more terrified at the lightning and thunder that accompanied the dust clouds than at the possibility of being buried by ash, because they had nothing in their lifelong experience by which to judge the blinding and deafening noise from the skies.

Many Uses for Wormwood.

The herb, wormwood, will grow in any well-cultivated garden. It usually reaches a height of 10 or 15 inches, with abundant foliage. The leaves and stalk are very bitter, and because of that were once used as a tonic, but that use is not approved by medical science. Wormwood is also used as a vermifuge to protect garments from moths, but its principal use now is in making absinth, a liquor distilled from wormwood, anise and other aromatics, and used principally in France. It is much more intoxicating than ordinary liquors and produces nervous derangement. It is also made in Switzerland, but in the trade Swiss absinth often signifies the strongest variety wherever made.

WE MAKE IT WORTH-WHILE FOR YOU TO PARTICIPATE IN OUR BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION

Did you ever stop to think how much importance and sentiment we, as a nation, attach to birthdays? Fourth of July marks the nation's birthday; we do not celebrate the day of Washington's great victory—we celebrate his birthday. When we look back over any great success we look all the way back to the beginning of the man or the nation.

So this event brings us to look back 54 years ago, when the courageous founders of this business opened that little store on Main street, with only a half dozen employees. They had faith that people would come in to buy. Customers came. The merchandise was good; confidence increased.

The store grew bigger each year, because it rendered a genuine service to the community—and it still continues to grow. It had the goods that people wanted. It sold them at fair prices. It served people with intelligent courtesy. Today it is carrying out the same policy with greater service in every way. We celebrate our birthday by giving to our customers hundreds of extraordinary bargains bought especially for the sale.

If you cannot come, send a mail order or telephone. We will be glad to fill all orders while the stocks last. Send your order while the stocks are full and avoid a possible disappointment.

For this Anniversary occasion, we have searched the market for weeks, for extraordinary merchandise to present at this time, and we have cut down our own profits; so that we might give the people who have supported us so long, another great economy occasion to remember us by, and to make it worth while for every person in our community or near it to come and help us celebrate the occasion that means so much to us and which by reason of these extraordinary offerings will mean so much to all who visit the store during these lively Anniversary Days.

PAVING THE WAY FOR THAT BIG HALF MILLION DOLLAR ADDITION—THE NEW STORE

"What are those blackbirds doing up there in the air?" asked a Poughkeepsie bank cashier, as he gazed upward. "But those are not blackbirds," laughingly replied one of the many people who were gathered on the street corner opposite Luckey, Platt & Co.'s store. "They are steel workers riveting on the top beam of the new five story structure being added to The Great Home Store."

Indeed not only the whole city, but people from Dutchess and surrounding counties have been interested in the progress of construction on the corner of Main and Academy streets, Poughkeepsie, N. Y. The people of this community may well be proud of this giant store now being erected. It is being put up to satisfy the increasing demand for larger space in which to do business. The people will have over two acres of accommodations that they have never had before. In fact, the people of this community can feel that they are themselves building this store. There are some four hundred local stockholders of this corporation who are directly interested in its enlargement. But every one will be proud of the handsome new front which is to be erected on Main and Academy streets. This will be an ornament to the city of Poughkeepsie. It is to be made of cream tint smooth faced brick with very liberal space occupied by glass.

The basement will contain a cafeteria and a self serve grocery store, both of generous dimensions. A specially large housefurnishing section and an under price dry goods department will add to the attraction of the basement.

On the first floor the Men's Furnishing Department will occupy about its present location and the main part of the store will be filled with handsome new fixtures for the Jewelry, Laces, Notions, Knit Underwear, Stationery, Hosiery, Gloves, and other sections of a large modern department store. In the corner at the rear of No. 332 Main street there will be a long service desk for the accommodation of the entire public. One of the beautiful features of the newly arranged store will be the fact that from any one point of the store one can see all over the entire expanse, all walls being removed and everything being open. Four handsome passenger elevators are being erected in the rear of the store.

The second floor will be devoted to Women's Wear departments. A very beautiful Women's Rest Room will be found in the rear. Here again the spirit of the store, which desires in every possible way to serve its patrons and satisfy their every convenience, will be illustrated.

The third floor will be devoted to Rugs, Wall-Papers, and Upholstery.

The fourth floor will be entirely covered by the Furniture Sales Room.

The fifth floor will be given over to stock-rooms and the offices of the Educational Director.

It must be apparent from the long history of this store that its main plan is the satisfaction of its patrons. Thus in the erection of this building everything will be planned for efficiency in handling merchandise most economically, for the convenience of the customer and for that service which is the watchword of Luckey, Platt & Co.

SAW GREAT ONES OF EARTH

Philadelphia Writer Tells of Meeting Soldier Who Served in Army of the First Napoleon.

Lord Frederick Hamilton records in his "The Days Before Yesterday" that he once talked with a man who had gone with Napoleon to Moscow, writes Girard in the Philadelphia Inquirer.

Hamilton, when a boy, was in Paris, where he saw the aged French general, Flabault, who had marched to Moscow and witnessed on the retreat the horrors at the crossing of the Beresina.

Interesting but not so unusual, I saw more than once a soldier of that grand army which marched to Moscow. His name was Schultz. He was past sixty-five when I saw him and he was a preacher.

Schultz lived in central Pennsylvania, whither he had come from Poland, where as a young man he had served in Napoleon's army for the invasion of Russia.

From 1812 to 1823 is a span of 111 years, but there are many who can reach back farther than that. Scores of men now living in Philadelphia have talked with those who saw and spoke to Franklin.

Edingham B. Morris has told me that when a child he had seen and talked at his ancient home in South Eighth street to his great-grandmother. She had seen Lord Cornwallis' army camped in Philadelphia.

There you behold a span reaching from 1777 to 1823, or 146 years.

Mr. Lewis, a well-known jeweler, who died recently, recounted to me how he had sold a watch to Daniel Webster. It was when Lewis was employed in a Boston jewelry shop.

Not long ago C. Stuart Patterson mentioned to me that he had seen our soldiers march away to four out of our country's six important wars. He saw troops go to Mexico.

Electric Railroaders' Freak

If you have never seen a trolley wheel welded to the overhead wire you have missed one of the interesting freaks of electric railroaders, according to a man whose business takes him on frequent suburban and inter-urban trips, the New York Sun states.

"I heard some trainmen on an up-state road discussing a case of welding," said this traveler. "They told me that the wheel and wire became solidly fused into one piece."

"At first I was skeptical, but further inquiries showed me that the happening is not unheard of. It is especially likely to take place with a heavily loaded freight train creeping up a steep grade. The use of current is so greatly emphasized that the wheel and wire become exceedingly hot. Should the car stop under these conditions the welding may take place quickly. At times the melting and fusing are so complete that the starting of the train will drag down the overhead wires and stop traffic."

Fresh Fruit for Europe

Many large shipments of fresh fruit are being dispatched from north Pacific ports to Europe through the Panama canal, practically all vessels in this service being loaded to their capacity. What is reported as the largest single shipment of apples from any northern Pacific coast port was carried by the steamship Narenta of the Royal Mail Steam Packet company, which transited the canal on December 18 with 125,000 boxes of apples laden at Portland, Ore., for discharge at British ports. The Narenta carried a cargo of 4,854 tons, in which were 3,782 tons of fresh fruits and 640 tons of canned fruits. The steamship had 25 insulated cargo chambers with a total refrigerated capacity of 488,000 cubic feet.—Panama Canal Record.

"NOBLE RED MAN"

Indian of the Frontier as He Really Was.

Found Highest Enjoyment in the Satisfaction of Suffering, and Not Brave in Battle.

During the period of the Spanish risk in our West—it became, actually, an Indian risk—Indians killed nearly three hundred white men, women and children, and wasted, burned and destroyed a million dollars in properties. They were, more than anything else, destructive; they loved excitement; and what they preferred above all was running off the live stock of a caravan; then they could get some fresh meat and horses and fill the remaining horses and cattle with arrows, shoot them at point-blank range with old flintlock fuses.

The Jicarillas were drunken pottery turners; the Utes were the best armed of all the local tribes, they were superior in war and hunting. But their war making was peculiar, and highly reasonable, in that they insisted on every circumstance favorable to themselves. Failing this they wouldn't fight! For attack they preferred the passage of the late moon; and it was their pleasure to happen on some detached woodchoppers, a lonely messenger or a small party of wagons in a narrow canyon.

Occasions like those gave their sense of humor and ingenuity full play; if they were in a hurry the murdering would be swift, the scalp secured without ceremony; but when the situation was safe they lingered over preliminaries and refinements. It was their ambition to lay bare terror and uncover pain, and their inventive faculties were endless; there would be more premonitory touches of steel and flame, little whistlings of torment, the feathery edge of agony, an eternity of hours before the blackened end.

The Indian regarded this as normal, an end to be avoided, of course, but faced with the inevitable, they accepted it in the image of men of stone. The objections, the tenderness of the white race, seemed to them wholly unreasonable; the cries and expletives they must have regarded as no less comic than contemptible.

Vanity both in conduct and appearance was the mark of a proper masculine carriage; the men rather than the women painted; they eradicated every hair from their beards and eyelashes and eyebrows, and, sitting their ears to hold pendants, hung beads to the weight of half a pound from each. For the rest, they wore breech cloths, moccasins and leggings of strouding, and a rug; they wore their hair with gum and paint, trinkets and feathers; and, at war, coated their faces with charcoal.

The bows they carried were three and four feet long, made of elastic wood, elk's horns, or, more infrequently, of buffalo ribs, but bone was inferior to the bows d'arc wrapped and lined with sinew. They carried, as well, lances, the inevitable scalping knives—in the Southwest there were no tomahawks—and shields of elk hide painted with the signs of the enemies they had killed.

At peace in their villages the shields, and sheafs of pipestems wrapped in red and blue cloths, were hung on tripods before the lodges of buffalo hide rubbed soft with the brains of that indispensable animal—a buffalo liver dipped in gall they considered the greatest of delicacies—and there, to a little drum and a squeaking pipe, they indulged in dances of a most humorous obscenity; there they were domestic.

Solemnly they slapped their naked and solemn sons, and varied the smoking of their formal and informal pipes by the food with which they literally stuffed themselves. In their philosophy and existence, in their fate, there was no tomorrow.—Joseph Hergeshelmer in the Saturday Evening Post.

Fooling the Bugs

A motorist in the South once stopped for winter at a dilapidated house where a barefooted man, leaning against a rickety fence, was gazing meditatively across a field that had grown up to weeds. "How is your cotton this year?" the motorist asked.

"Well, sir," replied the man, "I ain't got no cotton. I didn't plant none cause I was afraid the boll weevil might be bad."

"How is your corn?" "Well," came the reply, "I didn't plant no corn neither, for I didn't know if we'd get rain."

The motorist hesitated. "How are your sweet potatoes?" he asked at last.

"Well, now, stranger," the man replied, "you see, it's just this way: I didn't plant no sweet potatoes cause I was afraid the bugs might take them. No, sir, I didn't plant nothin'. I just played safe."—Youth's Companion.

Poor Hubby!

The bride's mother wanted to know how the groom was being treated, and asked what they had for dinner Monday.

"Oysters on the half shell," replied the bride.

"And Tuesday?" again the mother asked.

"Oysters on the half shell."

"What did you have Wednesday?"

"Oysters on the half shell."

"See here," demanded mother, "doesn't your husband care for anything except oysters on the half shell?"

"I suppose he does," answered the bride, "but it never such a lot of dish-washing."

River Celebrated in Song

The Suwannee river, celebrated in the ballad "Way Down Upon the Suwannee River," flows in southern Georgia, in the Okefenokee swamp, and winds south-southwest about 500 miles, flowing through Florida into the Gulf of Mexico at Suwannee Bay.

Alkali in Soap Bad for the Hair

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is Mulsified coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use.

Two or three teaspoonsful of Mulsified in a cup or glass with a little warm water is sufficient to cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified coconut oil shampoo at any pharmacy, it is very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified—Advertisement.

WARD STATED HE SHOT PETERS

So Testifies Coroner at State's Inquiry—Also Contradicts Senator Rabenold's Testimony—Ralph D. Ward Tells of Brother's Need of Money.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, April 4.—Walter S. Ward, youthful millionaire baker of New Rochelle, admitted to Edward F. Fitzgerald of Westchester county that he killed Clarence Peters, former sailor.

Fitzgerald made this assertion at today's hearing which the state is making into the Ward-Peters murder mystery.

"Ward actually admitted to you that he shot Peters, didn't he?" Fitzgerald was asked by Attorney General Sherman.

"He did," said the coroner. "I said to Ward that he was pretty lucky, and he said that he might not be so lucky the next time."

Despite the fact that Senator Rabenold, chief counsel to Ward, yesterday testified that he was not present when Ward was supposed to have surrendered to the Westchester county officials, Fitzgerald, emphatically declared that he was.

"Are you sure Senator Rabenold was present?" Fitzgerald was asked. "I certainly am," he answered.

Fitzgerald said that when he tried to talk with Ward, one of Ward's lawyers came over to where they were standing, and intimated that he should not engage him in conversation.

"Then you got the impression that Ward's lawyers did not want you to talk with him about the killing of Peters?" Fitzgerald was asked.

"Of course I did," he replied. For the second time the attorney general asked Fitzgerald if he was positive that Rabenold was present the day Ward came to the district attorney's office.

And for the second time Fitzgerald declared there was no doubt in his mind that Senator Rabenold was in the district attorney's office the day Ward was there.

Coroner Fitzgerald was on the stand only a short time, but the statements he made are regarded by Attorney General Sherman as the most important brought out since the state started its probe of the mysterious case.

Fitzgerald was then excused from the stand but was told that he might be recalled later in the day.

It also was expected that Senator Rabenold might be recalled later in the day.

Senator Collins of New York, chairman of the senate judiciary committee, made a brief statement at the hearing in which he said that some "evidence" in the Ward case had been turned over to him by Mrs. Inez O. Peters of Haverhill, Mass., mother of the slain youth, and that he would turn it over to the attorney general either today or tomorrow.

Allen R. Campbell, another of Ward's lawyers, who has testified on several previous occasions, is still in attendance and may be recalled for a fourth time. Mr. Campbell was busy taking notes at today's hearing.

Ralph D. Ward, a brother of Walter S. Ward, was unexpectedly called to the stand after Fitzgerald was excused. Known to those in the room, he had been sitting with Mr. Campbell, the Ward attorney. As he took the chair across the table from Attorney General Sherman, two photographers attempted to take his picture from different parts of the room.

He at first put his hand over his face, and then told the attorney general that he objected to having his picture taken.

"No pictures can be taken in the room where witnesses object," said the attorney general and the photographers folded their instruments.

Ward, a good looking, light haired young man, neatly dressed in a gray suit, was first questioned about his position with the Ward Baking Company, the concern owned by his father, George S. Ward. He said he was the second vice president and that his duties were of a general, managerial character. He was asked about the Peerless coupe car which his brother is believed to have.

On various occasions Ward declared:

"Now we are getting into what father told me, and I decline to answer."

He told how Walter had borrowed $50,000 on part of his stock in the Ward Baking Company. He said that was in April, 1922. Further questioning brought out the fact that Walter had pledged some of Ralph's stock in securing the loan.

been riding in, on the night of the killing of Peters. He said he thought it was a dark maroon color but did not remember much about it.

Did you know Clarence G. Peters?

"No, I never saw him."

"Did your brother ever mention him to you?"

"He mentioned a man whom he called 'Pete,' whom I suppose was Peters."

"Did you ask your brother if 'Pete' was one of the letters about the street in front of the Ward Baking Company offices?"

"I don't recall."

Ralph said he had several times urged his brother, Walter, to stop betting on the races. He said his father George Ward, was now at White Sulphur Springs, and that he had talked with him on the telephone yesterday.

Asked if his brother ever discussed the shooting of Peters with him, he shook his head in the negative. He said his father told him about it.

"What did your father tell you about it?"

"I refuse to answer."

"Why won't you tell us?"

"Because Judge Morschauer told me at the Grand Jury that I would not have to answer such questions."

"Is your father willing to come forward and tell us what he knows about this case?"

"I haven't the least idea."

"Is your father a resident of this state?"

"Yes, he has a home here."

"What salary did your brother receive from the Ward Baking Company?"

"I guess about $400 a week."

"Did you ever loan him any money since this case started?"

"I never did."

"Did your brother cable your father for money while your father was abroad?"

"I don't know."

"But your father authorized you to give Walter a large sum of money, didn't he?"

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, April 4.—The stock market opened steady today. Leading issues were not much changed, but some good advances were made in various stocks of the specialty type. United States Steel was unchanged at 107. Iron Products was up 1/2 to 55 1/2. Baldwin at 137 1/2.

was unchanged. Utah Copper rose 1/2 to 71 1/2. Studebaker was unchanged at 123 1/2, while Stromberg advanced 1/4 to 8 1/2. Railroad stocks were slightly irregular. New York Central was unchanged at 94 1/2, while Canadian Pacific yielded 1/4 to 149 1/2. Public Service of New Jersey was strong, advancing 1/2 to 101.

The lowering of call money to 46 cents at which figure an abundant supply was available, stimulated speculative sentiment and invited further covering by professional bear operators. The sharp run up in the independent steel stocks after an early bear drive, made the short position far from comfortable and large advances were recorded in various stocks. This was true especially in the motor division. Mack Truck at 82 1/2, and Willys Overland preferred at 86 1/2, both made new highs for the year, gaining 3 and 4 points respectively.

The market closed irregular, government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds were steady.

BOY SCOUTS

(Conducted by National Council of the Boy Scouts of America.)

BOY SCOUT ROUNDUP RESULT

For about three months past, the Boy Scouts of America in every part of the country have been engaged in what is known as the Anniversary Roundup. The main purpose was to make this program of scouting, which stands for character building and citizenship training, available to more boys in the country. In fact, a definite increase of twenty-five per cent net gain was aimed at, which would bring the membership of scouts up to the half million mark, exclusive of the 125,000 men who are giving service to this cause.

Although the main impetus of this drive was supposed to take place during February 8 to 15, the Thirtieth Anniversary Week of Scouting, and possibly the termination of the specified period then, the following information is forthcoming from the National Council office of the Boy Scouts of America.

The report to the National Executive board of the chief scout executive states:

"The Roundup has proven to be the most progressive and stimulating thing yet undertaken by the Boy Scouts of America. It has placed the scout movement before the general public perhaps more effectively than at any other one period in the history of the movement. It has caused all of our membership to think more definitely of the necessity of reaching more boys. As far as results are concerned, at this time it is impossible to say definitely what the net results are. As to how many troops and how many local councils have actually earned the award of the president's streamer for going 'over the top' with a 25 per cent increase is not yet known. From all sources there is evidence of a keen desire in securing the full net increase set up as the original objective, namely 100,000 more boys. Although not more than 50,000 to 60,000 of this net increase has actually been reported to the national office so far, it is known, from reports that we come in and from personal conferences in the field, from one end of the country to the other, that this represents but a portion of the net increase, which will eventually be reported to the national office."

Therefore, the executive board unanimously adopted the recommendation that the time of the Roundup be extended until the full 100,000 net increase has been secured, with the understanding that the president's streamers are to be awarded to all councils which have already qualified, and as soon as they qualify, until a period when records show 100,000 net increase.

It is believed that this plan will serve to meet the equitable claims of many localities, where because of sickness and other difficulties not unreasonable in depending so largely upon volunteer leadership, registrations could not be completed by February 15; and make possible a very wholesale result for all concerned, and at the same time in no way detract from the prestige and honor of those who have actually earned the right of award with the time originally specified.

It is "over the top" that the scouts are going without a doubt!

BOY SCOUT SAVES COMPANION
On a recent rowing trip Scout Lewis Wood of East St. Louis, Ill., and a companion had gone about fifty yards from shore to a point of land that was not covered with water, and believing it was an island, had gotten out of the boat to talk to some fishermen. Wood's companion was standing at the edge of the water when the bank suddenly gave way, throwing him into water beyond his depth. He grabbed a piece of driftwood but it was not large enough to support him. The current was strong at this point and carried him 50 feet or more from the shore. When Scout Wood saw his companion go down he plunged into the water and swam to him. The drowning boy had gone down the second time when the scout reached him. After a hard struggle in the water Wood managed to secure a grip around his companion's neck and swam to shore with him. There Wood applied the Schaefer method of resuscitation to the boy, who was unconscious, and within about fifteen minutes had his companion able to stand. The National Council of Honor has issued a letter of commendation to Scout Wood in recognition of his valor and skill.

BOY SCOUTS AID CITY
With the preparedness that has gained for them the nation's confidence, boy scouts have again rendered significant aid in time of disaster. In the recent $12,000,000 fire that swept the business section of Astoria, Ore., and left 2,500 people homeless, every active troop of boy scouts and every scout who has been a member of the organization since 1910, were on duty throughout the night and assisted in guard, errand and messenger service.

Consider the Great Need.
One of the saddest sights in life is the growing disregard of conscience; the smothering of high ambition by petty indifference, the gradual decay of the soul, the swiftness of character by the overdevelopment of material things.

SECRECY SHROUDS LENINE AND OTHERS

By Telegraph to The Freeman. London, April 4.—An unconfirmed report that Nicolai Lenine is dead, was circulated here today. Members of the Russian trade mission said that they knew nothing of the rumor and were unable to account for it.

Earlier in the day a despatch had been received from Moscow saying that Lenine's temperature had risen nearly to 100 and that his pulse was 104. A bulletin issued in Moscow during the morning said: "Catastrophic symptoms of the lungs are not increasing. The general condition of the patient is satisfactory."

Word from Paris heightened the mystery about the reported illness of Leon Trotsky, people's commissar for war in the Moscow government. Paris reported that it had been officially confirmed that Trotsky is sick and that four members of his household had been arrested in this connection.

There is a veil of secrecy hanging over the lives of most of the members of the Moscow government. They seldom appear in public and the people know nothing of their affairs except what appears in one of the Bolshevik newspapers at Moscow.

FESSENDEN TEAM WINS ALL THREE

From K. & M. Bowling Squad—Fuller Team Wins to Appear and Game is Portended—Teams Standings.

The Fessenden bowling squad is again close upon the heels of K. & M., after taking all three games from the New York Telephone team Tuesday evening. The first two were won by big margins, but the third was a close call for the shirt makers, there being a difference of only four pins. Bruck took both high single score and high average, single game 132, and average 166.

The Fuller team was to have bowled K. & M., but they failed to appear and the games were declared forfeited to K. & M. unless something serious happened to prevent the losers' appearance.

PRESIDENTIAL BEES START BUZZING

PRESIDENTIAL BEES START BUZZING

Host of Republican Booms Reviving After Being Chilled by Announcement of Harding Candidacy.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, April 4.—The recent announcement that President Harding would be a candidate for a second term in the White House forestalled the launching of a dozen individual presidential booms within the Republican party, it was learned today.

Nearly all these potential Republican standard bearers since have placed party loyalty above personal ambition by pledging support to Mr. Harding but it can be stated authoritatively that the Miami announcement of Attorney General Daugherty brought to a sudden halt considerable agitation in a number of quarters which would have resulted in the formal launching of presidential booms before the end of spring.

These "booms" for the most part have now been tossed on the political shelf but a few are subject to recall at any time. Among the nationally known Republicans whose names were urged by friends as possible successors to Mr. Harding, prior to the Miami announcement, were Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas, Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, Brigadier General Charles G. Dawes of Chicago, former Senator William S. Kenyon of Iowa, Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover, Senator Hiram Johnson of California, Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin, former Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois, Senator Modell McCormick of Illinois, Major General Leonard Wood, now governor-general of the Philippines, and Senator James E. Watson of Indiana.

Of this number political observers declared the General Wood boom had progressed the farthest. It is understood the Miami announcement forestalled actual launching of the Wood boom on his arrival in this country from the Philippines within a few weeks. The La Follette boom is ready at all times as the senior senator from Wisconsin will control his state delegation to the Republican convention as in previous years. The potential candidacies of General Dawes, of "Hell and Maria" fame and of Secretary Hoover, were to vie for administration support if Mr. Harding had decided not to run. Influential Republican leaders declare Dawes would ultimately have been the administration candidate. His strength came chiefly from the demand of American Legion officials for a "soldier president" and Dawes was "very much" acceptable to the boys who served overseas with him.

With the president a candidate again, the McCormick, Watson, Wood and Lowden booms also died in infancy for they will support Mr.
